

ReedGroup Announces Unified Canadian Absence Management Services

June 22, 2017

WESTMINSTER, Colo.-- Today, ReedGroup® formally announced its new suite of North American absence management services with the official opening of its Canadian-based data center that supports LeavePro®, the company's leading edge absence management software platform. Bilingual and customized, LeavePro is an innovative, single system platform for Canadian-based and cross-border U.S. businesses that need aligned North American leave, disability, and workers' compensation management.

"With this expansion, ReedGroup now has a full suite of absence management services that allows employers to seamlessly manage leaves across North America," said ReedGroup CEO David Roberts. "We are excited to have a strong Canadian presence. This full commitment to the Canadian marketplace signifies our focus on delivering innovative, integrated solutions to meet our clients' needs."

Few providers offer both consultative advisory services that drive absence insights and the capability to administer leaves and disability claims. "ReedGroup is a true Canadian business with in-country assets and Canadian office locations," said ReedGroup Canadian Absence Leader Tom Gergely. "Combining Canadian local market knowledge and expertise, ReedGroup offers employers operating across North America the ability to effectively handle the complexities unique to various Provincial Workers' Compensation Boards, alongside US leave legislation and policies."

ReedGroup Canada offers performance and risk analysis and absence consulting services through the company's ReedInsights suite of services. In addition, the company provides a full array of outsourced services in the disciplines of workers' compensation and disability management.
