

ReedGroup Hires New General Counsel, Josh Protass

February 6, 2017

WESTMINSTER, Colo.-- ReedGroup, a leading provider of health and productivity solutions, announced today that Josh Protass has joined as the company's General Counsel.

"ReedGroup is focused on meeting the expanding needs of our employer customer base," stated David Roberts, CEO. "In recruiting for this role, we sought a leader with strong business acumen and a complete understanding of the complex compliance challenges businesses face today in managing their workforce. Josh has a unique background that blends business savvy with a diverse set of legal skills. He is uniquely positioned to innovate our services to more positively impact and benefit our customers' overall productivity."

Josh's experience spans multiple industry sectors, including healthcare, financial services and IT. Josh most recently served as Associate General Counsel at TriZetto Corporation, a healthcare information technology solutions company. Prior to that, Josh was Senior Corporate Counsel at Flextronics, a global multibillion dollar manufacturing services company.

Josh will lead the company's legal department and oversee compliance, contracting, commercial agreements, product development, procurement, employment law, mergers and acquisitions, and risk management.

Josh received his Juris Doctor degree from Fordham Law School in New York City.
